Your Three Cards 25
Living in Your Colors 26
Meet Olivia 27

Welcome.

Congratulations. You're about to make your life a whole lot easier by understanding the colors that suit your features perfectly.

What Is Color Analysis?

Hold a bright red scarf close to your face in natural daylight and look in the mirror. Your skin will react. On the right person, it lifts the face. The skin looks clearer, the eyes look brighter. On the wrong person, it casts shadows, brings out redness, and drains the complexion.

That reaction is color analysis at work.

Every color has three qualities: whether it leans warm or cool, whether it's light or deep, and whether it's bright or soft. Your natural coloring has those same three qualities. When the color you wear matches yours, everything lifts.

These qualities point you to one of twelve seasons. One of them is yours. This guide will show you which one.

A visual map of the twelve color seasons

Before You Begin Your Analysis

Follow these four steps every time you test your cards. If your conditions are off, your results will be too.

01 FIND THE RIGHT LIGHT

Sit near a window in natural daylight. Not direct sunlight, indirect even light. No lamps, no overhead lighting, no shadows across your face.

02 REMOVE ALL MAKEUP

Take off foundation, concealer, blush, and any tinted skincare or self-tanner. These change how your skin reads under the cards.

03 WEAR A NEUTRAL TOP

White, grey, or beige. Anything with color will reflect onto your skin and change what you see.

04 TIE BACK COLORED HAIR

If your hair is dyed or highlighted, tie it back so it doesn't interfere with how colors read near your face.

You are now ready to begin.

Color Analysis in 7 Steps

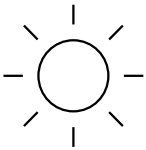

Follow each step in order. Do not skip ahead.

Find Your Undertone

Your undertone is the warmth or coolness of your skin. It's the most important quality in color analysis.

Here are two ways to find yours:

1. WHAT HAPPENS IN THE SUN?

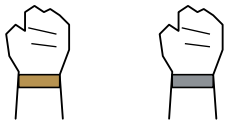

- Burn easily → cool
- Tan easily → warm

2. GOLD OR SILVER?

Most of us know this instinctively. Think about which metal you naturally reach for, the jewelry you own more of, the one that feels like "you."

If you're not sure, hold gold jewelry against your bare wrist, then silver. Which one blends in and looks like it belongs there? Which one looks slightly off, like it's sitting on top of your skin rather than with it?

- Gold looks like it belongs → warm
- Silver looks like it belongs → cool

NEUTRAL?

Some people can wear both gold and silver easily, as well as burn and tan. If that's you, you'll still lean one way slightly more, even if it's subtle. Choose whichever way you lean most.

Circle your result: WARM / COOL

Find Your Depth

Depth is how light or dark your overall coloring is; your skin, hair, and eyes together.

NOT SURE? HERE'S A TIP.

Take a photo of yourself in black and white, either edit a normal photo afterward, or switch your camera to black and white mode first.

- Does your coloring read as mostly light overall?
- Does it read as mostly dark overall?
- Or does it sit somewhere in the middle?

Look at your skin, hair, and eyes together, not one at a time, and go with your first impression.

LIGHT
fair skin, light hair, light eyes.

MEDIUM
not especially light or deep, sits in the middle.

DEEP
deeper skin, dark hair, dark eyes.

Circle your result: LIGHT / MEDIUM / DEEP

Your Color Equation

Your undertone and your depth point directly to your color family.

Warm + Light = Spring
Warm + Deep = Autumn
Cool + Light = Summer
Cool + Deep = Winter

Each family contains three closely related seasons.
* This is just a note, don't worry about this yet. You'll find your exact subseason when you test your cards later in the steps.

LANDED ON MEDIUM WHEN TESTING YOUR DEPTH?

You're right in between two families. We need to check one more thing:
• Bright: your coloring feels high contrast, your features stand out from each other
• Soft: your coloring feels blended, your features sit close in tone to each other

Use this equation below:

Warm + Medium + Bright = Spring
Warm + Medium + Soft = Autumn
Cool + Medium + Bright = Winter
Cool + Medium + Soft = Summer

Find Your Color Family

Circle the undertone and depth you landed on, this will show you your color family.

Your undertone	Your depth	Your color family
Warm	Light	Spring
Warm	Deep	Autumn
Cool	Light	Summer
Cool	Deep	Winter
Warm	Medium + Bright	Spring
Warm	Medium + Soft	Autumn
Cool	Medium + Bright	Winter
Cool	Medium + Soft	Summer

My color family is: _____

Get Your Cards Ready

Go to your box, where you'll find your 36 color cards, 3 cards per season, across 12 seasons in total.
Each card is clearly labeled with its color season and its type, Core, Neutral, or Accent, so they're easy to find.

TO GET STARTED:

- Pull out the three subseasons in your family
- Find the CORE card for each one
- That's three cards in total, ready to test

For example, if you land on Autumn: the CORE card for Deep Autumn, the CORE card for True Autumn, and the CORE card for Soft Autumn.

Label them A, B, and C.

A = _____

B = _____

C = _____

How to Use Your Cards

Take your mirror and test in natural daylight.
• Hold one card at a time up to your face, so your face sits in the middle of the circle
• Look at your face, not the card, you're watching what it does to your skin, not deciding if you like the color
• More than one card may look good, that's normal, you're looking for the one that makes the biggest difference.

WHAT YOU'RE LOOKING FOR

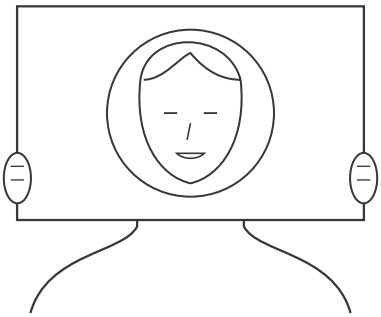

THE RIGHT COLORS WILL:

• Even out your skin tone
• Soften shadows under your eyes
• Make your eyes look brighter
• Make your face look more awake

THE WRONG COLORS WILL:

• Make shadows look deeper
• Make your skin look uneven
• Pull focus to the color itself
• Draw more attention to blemishes, redness, or under-eye circles

 Take a photo if it helps. Sometimes the camera sees what the eye misses.*

Test and Score

Take out your Rating Sheet. You will record all your results there as you test.

Work through each question below, one at a time.

- Test one card at a time against your face
- Decide which card wins that question
- Tick that letter on your Rating Sheet

Question	A	B	C
Makes the whites of my eyes look brightest	☐	☐	☐
Smooths out my skin the most	☐	☐	☐
Softens shadows under my eyes the most	☐	☐	☐
Makes me look the most awake and alive	☐	☐	☐

Count your ticks on your Rating Sheet: A: ___ B: ___ C: ___
The letter with the most ticks is your season.
IF IT'S CLOSE:
Test your top two cards again, one at a time. Ask yourself:
- Did I notice my face first, or the card first? Face first is the winner, card first means it's too strong for you.
- Still unsure? Go with the card that made the whites of your eyes look brightest.

Congratulations. You found your season.

Turn to your season page in this booklet to learn more about your color season. Look up your season below. The 12 Seasons / pages 11-16

Take Your Colors With You

Your pocket deck is a mini version of your large cards, made to come shopping with you. Once you know your season, keep your three cards in your wallet or bag so your colors are always on hand.

How to use your cards

Walking into a store can feel overwhelming, with rails of pieces in every color. Your cards help you shop with focus.

1. Let your colors guide you. Before you start browsing, take a look at your cards. Keeping your shades fresh in your mind helps you find them on the rail, so the right pieces stand out faster.
2. Hold your mini swatch card up against the item.
3. Check if the color matches a shade on your card. If it's a match, or close to one of your shades, it belongs to your season. It doesn't need to be exact.

Remember your three cards

CORE COLORS The heart of your palette. These are the pieces to wear closest to your face.

NEUTRALS Your key basics. Your everyday go-to and staple pieces.

ACCENT COLORS Your statement shades, for the pieces that stand out. Every color across your three cards belongs to your season, so feel free to mix them. These are a guide, not a rulebook.

Makeup too

Your cards work just as well at the beauty counter. If you find a lipstick or eyeshadow you love, hold it next to your swatches to see if it suits you. For eyeshadow, lips and blush, your Neutrals and Core Colors will be your best fit.

Bright Spring

BRIGHT · WARM · LIGHT

Bright Spring's primary aspect is bright and warm. This coloring carries a natural warmth with real clarity, giving a fresh, awake energy. The palette reflects this too, like the first bloom of spring, warm, radiant, and full of life.

YOUR FEATURES

SKIN UNDERTONE
Warm, with a peachy, golden, or neutral-warm undertone.

EYE COLOR
Clear and bright, often green, blue, or hazel, though any eye color can carry this warm, bright quality.

HAIR COLOR
Warm and light in tone, often golden blonde to light golden brown, though any hair color can carry this warm, bright quality.

YOUR METALS
Gold, high-shine metals
Slightly bold, clean pieces

True Spring

WARM · BRIGHT · LIGHT

True Spring's primary aspect is warm and bright, sitting right at the heart of the season. This coloring has a golden warmth with real clarity. The palette reflects this too, like a bouquet of spring flowers, warm, clear, and radiant.

Cool and gentle in tone, often ash brown, medium brown, or dark blonde, though any hair color can carry this soft, low-contrast quality.

YOUR METALS
Soft silver, brushed metals
Rose gold in soft tones

Soft Autumn

SOFT · WARM · DEEP

Soft Autumn's primary aspect is soft and warm. This coloring is gentle, with a warmth that feels natural rather than bold. The palette reflects this too, warm and easygoing, like late afternoon light.

YOUR FEATURES

SKIN UNDERTONE
Warm, with a neutral-warm undertone, sometimes with a soft golden cast.

EYE COLOR
Gentle and blended, often green, hazel, or brown, though any eye color can carry this soft, warm quality.

HAIR COLOR
Warm and gentle in tone, often soft brown, dark blonde, or auburn, though any hair color can carry this soft, warm quality.

YOUR METALS
Antique gold, bronze
Soft gold tones

True Autumn

WARM · DEEP · SOFT

True Autumn's primary aspect is warm and deep. This coloring carries a rich, golden warmth. The palette reflects this too, like nature in full autumn color, rich, grounded, and warm.

YOUR FEATURES

SKIN UNDERTONE
Warm, with a golden or neutral-warm undertone.

EYE COLOR
Warm and rich, often brown, hazel, or green, though any eye color can carry this deep, golden warmth.

YOUR METALS
High-shine silver, platinum
Bold, clean metals

Your Three Cards

Now you've found your season, you can take out your set of three cards, Core, Neutral, and Accent, look for these labeled on the cards. The difference between them is the role each one plays in your wardrobe.

YOUR CORE COLORS
Your everyday colors. Knitwear, dresses, shirts, and layering pieces, the colors you will reach for most often.

YOUR NEUTRALS
Think of these as your wardrobe foundations, your everyday basics that you'll turn to time and time again.

YOUR ACCENT COLORS
For statement pieces, special occasions, and accessories, for example, a bold top, a vibrant bag, or a statement shoe.

Living in Your Colors

A GENERAL TIP WHEN BUILDING AN OUTFIT

To create the best color combinations, mix your neutrals with the core or accent colors from within your own color palette.

STYLING TIPS FROM YOUR STYLIST

• Go tonal, also known as monochromatic dressing: pick one color and wear it head to toe in different shades, all from within your own color season.

• Mix textures as you go, knit against silk, suede against denim, leather against something soft. Effortless and quietly expensive-looking.

PERSONAL FASHION STYLIST

Hi, I'm Olivia. I'm a certified personal stylist and professional colour analyst, trained with the Australian Style Institute. Over the years I've helped people around the world discover the colours that truly suit them — in London, in Australia, and virtually everywhere in between.

I noticed a pattern with my clients. They would try to figure out their own season using online quizzes and AI apps, only to be placed in the wrong season and left more confused than before. I believed colour analysis should feel clear and reassuring, never confusing.

That's why I put my experience into MOORRA, creating a step-by-step guide so anyone can do it, with no experience needed.

I believe style isn't about changing who you are. It's about revealing who you've always been. Because when you wear the right colours, confidence feels effortless.
